

National Disability Insurance Scheme

Facts about the NDIS in WA

WA NDIS is the NDIS. It is the national scheme delivered locally. West Australians with disability will gain access to all the benefits of the national scheme with the added benefit of personalised local support.

- People in WA will have the same access to funding and supports as everyone else across Australia.
- Under the NDIS, WA will have the same amount of funding as other States.
- Because this is the national scheme, people's plans and funding can move with them anywhere in the country.
- WA NDIS will be based on insurance principles, with a strong focus on early intervention.
- People with disability will have total choice and control. Each individual is in charge of their own planning process. They decide how they want it to be done, who they want to be part of it and what will work best for them.
- In the WA NDIS people have a dedicated person to work with who is based in their local community. This is the same person they'll plan with.
- The person who makes the decision about someone's funding is the same person who has been part of the planning process with them..
- Planning is personalised and is done on each person's own terms. It can change quickly if their needs or circumstances change.
- There are over 175 quality assured service providers for people to choose from.
- People will get support to find the right service provider as well as help to get the support happening quickly. .
- People will get support if they want to change their service provider at any time.
- If people's supports are complex, help is available to coordinate them.

- People will have support to access a self-management system that more people are using than anywhere else in the country.
- Because WA NDIS is local and we have already have relationships with other state government agencies, we can to make sure all your services come together in a coordinated way.
